ACCIDENT TO A TRAIN.

Twenty-two passengers were slightly injured in a wreck at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon of a special, running as second section of passenger train No. 10 of the Southern Railway near Cedar Run bridge, between Outlet and Calverton. The engine and four passenger coaches were derailed 400 yards from the bridge as a result, according to the engineer's and fireman's statements, of a misunderstanding of danger signals.

The track was plowed up for a distance of 200 feet. The engine parted from the train scarcely 50 feet from the bridge, and was brought to a stop on the bridge. Had the train gone the length of two coaches farther a fearful loss of life would have been inevitable.

Physicians from Calverton, Warrenton and other nearby towns gave aid to the injured, and all were carried to Washington on a special train which passed through this city last night.

The wreck was the result of a misunderstanding of a danger signal, which the flagman of a section force claims to have given the engineer of the wrecked train. The section men were repairing the track just a few moments before the wrecked train was sighted. The section foreman claims that torpedoes were placed on the track at regulation distance and that his flagman was sent back in accordance with the rules.

The engineer says the flagman was carrying his flag under his arm when his train, running at 30 miles an hour, shot past him. This statement is corroborated by the fireman. Four sleepers and the baggage car were wrecked. Twisted iron, broken car wheels, and bent rails were much in evidence.

The train was running as a special from New Orleans to Washington, and pulled out of Atlanta, Ga., ten hours late. In order to make up time, it was speeding at fifty miles when the accident occurred.

Locomotive No. 1216 was attached to the train. It was in charge of Engineer R. L. Patton.

MR. CARLIN.

"Two more years of Charley" sounds better to the people of the Eighth district than anything else unless it be four more years, and then some. Mr. Carlin has really represented his people in Congress. His advice and counsel have weighed well in the deliberations of the nation's lawmakers; his untiring efforts in promoting the welfare of the district have been fruitful, and with all he has found time to lead a helping hand to many of our people in government service. In fact, Mr. Carlin has "made good" at every point and the people have been glad to give him a clear field for another term. —[Falls Church Commonwealth.]

GAVE BOND.

James Harrison, one of the youths who was arrested at an early hour last Sunday morning on the charge of entering the house of Mr. J. R. N. Dinkins, at the southeast corner of Prince and Henry streets, furnished bail yesterday afternoon in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance before the Corporation Court, and was released. His father, Mr. John Harrison, became his surety. Lee Downs and Arthur Burns, arrested at the same time as parties to the house-breaking, failed to procure security.

Mr. Dinkins was in the city today. He has made a partial inventory, and finds a number of articles have been stolen from his house.

THE ALEXANDRIA MURDERERS.

Governor Mann is still considering the cases of the Alexandria negroes, four men, all of whom are under sentence of death for a murder committed there several months ago. Three of the men are said to be innocent, and they were convicted on the evidence of a man who has served two terms in the penitentiary and who has confessed that he is a perjurer. The governor does not rely on the idea of killing men on the evidence of a perjurer. —[Richmond Journal.]

GENEROUS CONTRIBUTIONS.

The finance committee of the general committee which is making preparations for the entertainment of the firemen at the state convention which meets in this city in August, has been greatly encouraged by the generous contributions they have received.

Phelps, has made extensive preparations for the event. St. Mary's is located in what is known as the Washington parish of the Richmond diocese, having been so named before the revolution, because it was the home parish of the Washington family. For many years services were held in various private homes, and later in a small church building. The late Rev. Dr. Latane was pastor. The church has been named St. Mary for the late Mrs. Mary Clinton, whose husband generously subsidized it.

Today is Confederate Memorial Day in Alexandria and is being observed as such. The various committees from Lee Camp and the several auxiliary societies visited the cemeteries near this city and strewed flowers over the graves of the Confederate soldiers buried therein. Later the Confederate monument at the corner of Washington and Prince streets and the mound in Christ Church yard were decorated. A stand has been erected at the monument where this evening appropriate exercises will be held according to the programme published yesterday.

It was announced on Saturday last that the Newport News shipyard was the low bidder on the work, its bid being $387,000, while the Wilmington Company's bid was $412,000.

ELKS.

At the meeting last night of Alexandria Lodge of Elks it was decided to dedicate the new hall with appropriate exercises on the first Monday in October. It was also decided to give an excursion to Marshall Hall on July 11, at which time there will be a motorboat race and other attractions.

Harrisburg, Va., May 24.—A letter from George B. Sine, a widely known Harrisburg citizen, who was prominently mentioned for governor last year, tells of a recent thrilling encounter with brigands near Joppa, Jerusalem. Mr. Sine separated from his wife and three daughters while sight-seeing and returned a few moments to find them unconscious. Two men had chloroformed them for the purpose of committing robbery. Sine, although armed only with a small case, attacked the two and beat them over the heads. The three fought until officers arrived and placed the brigands under arrest. None of the ladies were seriously injured.

Accident to an Editor.

New York, May 24.—It was a sweet dream to a sad awakening for Frank Puton, a Boston editor, who arrived here today on the Colonial Express.

Dreaming he wandered among the stars, drank from the big dipper, and flirted with Venus. He was having the time of his life when Halley's comet came dashing toward him with the speed of a scudette in a lobster palace. He most push it aside. He thrust his arm forth.

Then he woke up. He had pushed his hand through the window of a sleeper and had it almost removed by a signal post past which the train was flashing. He was taken to the Lincoln Hospital and his injuries dressed. Then he resumed his journey to Washington.
